Bringing the Story of the Broads Alive

HOW CAN I GET INVOLVED?

The Museum has an active volunteer group who help with all aspects of running and maintaining our independent Museum.

The Museum provides an opportunity for everyone to be involved with 'Bringing the Story of the Broads Alive'.

Whether it is welcoming visitors at reception, talking to visitors about the collection, maintaining and crewing our Victorian Steam Launch Falcon, looking after our exhibits, joining our retail team or helping at special events days, you will be part of a friendly team preserving the heritage of the Broads.

Our Volunteers say:

"I have plenty to give and I like being a useful part of society. Since coming to the Museum I've learnt a lot and people want my skills here. I've made more friends here than where I lived before."

"I come to the Museum to meet people and fill my days with something useful. I like to keep my mind active and learn new skills. If somebody had said to me that I would be a steam engineer on a 120 year old steam launch I wouldn't have believed them in a million years!"

The Museum is open to visitors from Easter to October.
Opening times are 10:00 am until 4:30 pm Sunday to Friday.
Volunteer working groups meet throughout the year.
